

SALT LAKE AND STATE NEWS

QUARANTINE LAW IS EXTENDED

SALT LAKE, April 7.—The Board of Health, Salt Lake City: Hereafter no case of scarlet fever will be released from quarantine until inspected by an officer of the board of health.

First inspection will not be made until after twenty-eight (28) days from date of quarantine.

By order of Board of Health.
SAMUEL G. PAUL, M. D.,
Health Commissioner.

Dr. Samuel G. Paul, city health commissioner, exploded a bombshell under the medical profession when he issued a notice today declaring that the time of quarantine for scarlet fever should be extended for seven days. The extension is a part of the strenuous campaign which the health commissioner intends to open on contagious diseases.

Scarlet fever has been the chief difficulty during Dr. Paul's regime as health commissioner. He has been remarkably successful in reducing the number of smallpox cases to a minimum and were it not for the present epidemic of scarlet fever would have cut the contagious disease record down far below that of former years. The spread of scarlet fever has worried the members of the board of health who have been adopting every precautionary measure possible. Houses under quarantine are being watched for violations of the regulations, and the persistent disregard of such has been stopped, but the disease continues to spread.

Period of Contagion. At present the length of the quarantine term is twenty-one days. In the opinion of the health commissioner, and in this he is backed by Drs. Fisher and Raley, the other members of the city board of health, this term is not of sufficient length. The period of contagion in scarlet fever has always been a disputed point in the profession, and it is by no means a certainty that all danger is past when the twenty-eight days are up.

Spokane quarantines six weeks for scarlet fever and San Francisco and other cities for the same period. Here it has hitherto been confined to the three weeks' period, as in other diseases.

The first step taken by the board was to send a notice to each practicing physician of the change in the regulations. After the profession was notified the announcement was made to the general public. Opposition is expected. It has been by no means easy to enforce the three weeks' quarantine and Dr. Paul will have his hands full with the extended term, it is believed.

The extension was not made without careful consideration by the board of health and consultation of the best authorities. Once made the health commissioner has determined to enforce it to the letter.

SCHLAGKS AND LEVEY ON INSPECTION TRIP

SALT LAKE, April 7.—Improvements on the Western Pacific track

across the south end of the Great Salt Lake, to cost many thousands of dollars, will likely be ordered within the next twenty-four hours.

Charles H. Schlacks, first vice president of the road, and Charles M. Levey, second vice president and general manager, arrived in this city shortly before noon today in a private car. At 2:25 o'clock this afternoon they left for the scene of the recently damaged line across the lake. It is understood that Mr. Schlacks and Mr. Levey came in response to a telegram sent by Chief Engineer T. J. Wyche, who arrived in this city three days ago, and who has made an inspection of the damaged line.

While no official information has been given out, it is said that the railroad officials will decide as to what is to be done with the fourteen miles of road that cross the lake. It is predicted by railroad men that they will predict that the track shall be raised several feet and that heavy riprap shall be put in on the north side of the track. It is possible that they will order the construction of a breakwater north of the track to protect it. It was stated this afternoon that the officers of the road had come to the conclusion that if it is within the bounds of modern engineering they will protect their track across the lake so that by the time passenger traffic is started there will be absolutely no danger.

BUSINESS GOOD ON EXCHANGE

SALT LAKE, April 7.—Conditions on the local market this morning were very much improved. For two or three days the situation has been getting a little bit better, and the situation today looked brighter and more hopeful than it has for several weeks past. Traders are of the opinion that the worst is over, and that with a little closer attention to the methods of trading and a better understanding as to the status of fellow brokers, the exchange will soon assume normal again.

A number of the securities were in much better form this morning. Tintic Central, which looked good yesterday, continued to advance, and from opening sales at 16 1/2 cents the price pegged up as high as 19 1/2 cents. At this price considerable stock was offered, and on a reaction the price went down again, and closed on sales, as at the beginning, at 16 1/2 cents. Colorado jumped from 82 cents at the opening to 87 cents, and Iron Blossom shot up from $1.10 to $1.17 1/2. Columbia Consolidated was the weak point, and was a drag on the market at 25 cents.

While reports from the various properties of the state are encouraging, especially in the Tintic district, the general feeling among the brokers themselves is better, and this condition is naturally reflected in the board trading.

STREAMS ARE BEING STOCKED FOR FISH

SALT LAKE, April 7.—Two hundred and fifty thousand young trout will be wriggling about the streams of Weber and Tooele counties by the end of the week, according to Fred W. Chambers, state fish and game commissioner, who has just completed arrangements for the spring stocking of the streams. The baby fish are of the eastern brook and German brown varieties, and have been raised during the winter months in the state fish hatcheries for use in the streams.

Mitigations to the number of 100,000 were placed in cans and sent to Tooele county, to be planted in several streams there, and 150,000 were sent to Weber county to be placed in the streams of that county.

The baby fish are about three inches long and will make a great deal of difference in the fisherman's luck by the end of the coming season.

RAILROAD FOR TETON VALLEY

SALT LAKE, April 7.—On the strength of assurances from a committee representing various interests in the Teton Valley district in Idaho that a right of way would be forthcoming, General Manager W. H. Hancock of the Oregon Short Line railroad announced today that the company would build a line from Ashton to Driggs, the construction of which would be begun on June 1. The proposed railroad will cover a stretch of territory forty miles long. The primary object of the undertaking is to open up new fields in the Teton valley, which are reported to be rich in coal deposits and oil. Heretofore extensive development work has been hampered by reason of the lack of transportation facilities.

The Teton railroad project also contemplates the construction of a branch route to the coal properties in the Driggs district. In this section operations have been wholly independent upon wagon and team transportation.

SURVEY COMPLETED FOR NEW RAILROAD

SALT LAKE, April 7.—The final survey for the Salt Lake & Idaho railroad, which will run from Saine, Utah, a point on the Southern Pacific, to Burley, Idaho, on the Oregon Short Line, a distance of about 140 miles, will likely be completed within the next three or four weeks, according to the information given out by one of the officers of the company this morning.

The preliminary survey was made some time ago. For several weeks Carl Stradley, locating engineer for the Harriman system, has been going carefully over the first survey with a view of finding out if there are any changes that can be made to advantage. The new road will open up a rich territory.

SEVEN MEN HELD UP BY LONE DESPERADO.

Highwayman Shows No Signs of Nervousness While Handling His Victims.

Salt Lake, April 8.—Seven men were held up last night, presumably by one lone highwayman. In addition, two other robberies were reported and an additional robber appeared. The man was not even masked, and while he was operating a dozen sleuths from the police department were patrolling the neighborhood in which the robber was operating. The thug was evidently an expert, as he showed no signs of nervousness and handled his victims with the ease of a "Taffie."

Armed with an ax, Mrs. Anna Marsh chased the bold highwayman from a barber shop at Seventh South and West Temple streets Thursday night, after he had robbed patrons of the place of $30.25. The woman did not arrive upon the scene until the highwayman had searched all of the patrons in the barber shop, but when she arrived the hand lost no time in making a getaway.

L. B. Misland, 26 Yale street, was getting shaved when the robber entered the shop. C. A. Ranstron was wielding the razor. Misland was relieved of $27.50 and Ranstron gave up more than $2. The highwayman was not masked, and he was remarkably cool. Just as he was completing the job, Mrs. Marsh burst into the shop with an ax and the robber fled.

Holds Up Store.

Prior to holding up the barber shop the highwayman held up the proprietor of a confectionery store at Sixth South and State streets. He snapped a revolver three times in the face of the proprietor, Frank Talaga, and caused Paul Angel, a patron of the establishment, to seek a secure corner in a remote part of the store. Talaga showed fight and the robber hurried away without waiting to collect any coin.

G. S. Hodson, 275 East Seventh South street, was held up by a lone highwayman shortly after 10 o'clock Thursday night and relieved of $4 and a silver watch. His companion was also "touched" to the extent of $2.25. There was no ceremony attached to the robbery. Hodson was walking along Seventh South street, accompanied by a friend, when the command to elevate hands was given. Hodson and his friend obeyed. The bandit was not masked and apparently was in no hurry to complete his job, for he insisted that the victims align themselves against a neighboring fence while he searched them.

By Lone Highwayman. A man named Skelly reported that he had been held up near Fifth South and Fourth East about 10 o'clock. A lone highwayman did the job in this case also.

Lieutenant Richard Shannon had eleven men in plain clothes out scouring the town for the highwayman, but until 2 o'clock no arrests had been made.

Two men, who gave their names to the police as Carlson and Bloomquist, reported that they had been held up near First West and First South streets. They lost $6.50, but the robber overlooked $150 in Carlson's pockets.

Robert Browning, a negro, was held up on Fourth South, near State street, and relieved of $15. In this case two men did the job. He was held up about 11:45 p. m.

Two patrolmen fired at a man believed to be the bandit when he refused to halt and be searched. The pistol shots occasioned considerable excitement near Second South and Fifth West. The suspect escaped.

NEW DEPARTURE BY CITY HEALTH BOARD

Period of Quarantine for Scarlet Fever Increased from Three to Four Weeks.

Salt Lake, April 8.—A new departure has been made by City Health Commissioner Dr. S. G. Paul and the city board of health relative to the length of time for quarantining scarlet fever patients.

An order has been issued by the health department increasing the period of quarantine for that disease from three weeks to four weeks. Everything possible has been done by the health department to stamp out the scarlet fever epidemic and it is believed that the period of quarantine is not long enough, hence the change. Notices have been mailed to all the physicians in the city of the change of time for quarantining scarlet fever patients, and notice is now given to the public of that change. All the members of the city health board favor the increase in length of time for the quarantine of this disease and the matter has received careful consideration by the board.

There, will, no doubt, be some opposition to the new rule, but it is found that in San Francisco, Spokane and other cities the quarantine period for this disease is six weeks, and it is believed by the board of health that three weeks is not long enough, hence the increase.

The health department will no doubt have its hands full enforcing the new rule, as a great many seriously object to staying in quarantine three weeks without having the term increased to four weeks. Every effort will be made by Dr. Paul and his assistants to enforce the new regulation.

Some People Don't Read Advertisements But Most Everybody Reads Mine

Those who don't take time to read advertisements are making unnecessary work for themselves. There are many things taking place and passing which are unobserved by those who will not waste time, as they say, to read advertisements.

Please change your fixed ideas and join the ranks of those who read before they run. The world has accepted the advertisement as a thing of life, and unless you follow you will be in the dust behind.

In my last advertisement I told the people of Ogden that the new gas works was completed. The first new gas was made on March 21st, and now we are ready for all those who have been waiting to have a gas range installed.

We have received orders for 34 stoves since my advertisement of last week appeared. This proves that people are reading advertisements.
